

A Basket of Candles For Katehyn

*A basket of candles that come in a pair
in all different colors, for you two to share.*

*The white ones burn first;
they are wrapped in white lace
to celebrate your first married night
in your new chosen place.*

*The green pair is taller, and also much thinner;
burn with the first company you have over for dinner.*

*The dark blue candles are for after your first fight;
use them to burn while making up all night.*

*Pink candles set the mood and pave the way
for your first married Valentine's Day.*

*Now, when your first year of marriage is through,
the cream anniversary pair, will light for you two.*

*Red candles aflame, both your futures are bright;
celebrate promotions you've worked toward with all of your might.*

By this time we hope, maybe, just maybe you can light the purple ones, on the birth of your baby.

*And just when you thought you'd put these away,
take the light blue ones out for your fifth anniversary day.*

*Now just one more pair left - for the big "two five" -
the anniversary pair that will keep your love alive.*

*Congratulations Katehyn and Joe
on the start of your forever.*

May the two of you always be happy together.

*And burn these candles just the way we said,
but please don't forget: blow them out before bed!*
